

RM-10740 needs to be dismissed. It undermines the experimental nature that has always been a part of Amateur Radio. Amateur Radio has always been evolving and changing, don't shackle that evolution.

The audio enhancing bunch are a refreshing change to listen to. They pose no threat. The older modes should be grandfathered in and not messed with. There are many facets to this hobby and if a few people are grumbling about one or two, they should not try and sway the entire amateur community. There is room enough for everyone.
